

Indiana Alliance of Hazardous Materials Responders

Mission Statement

The mission of the Indiana Alliance of Hazardous Materials Responders is to promote, support, protect and unify its membership. This organization commits itself to looking at the future with open eyes and a clear perspective on the needs of hazardous materials emergency responders and responding agencies. We actively promote, encourage and support cooperative efforts with industry to maintain public safety and the responsible handling of hazardous materials emergencies. In order to accomplish our mission this organization will at all times maintain its focus on providing its members with high quality training, a forum for open and honest communication and a support structure to assist both individuals and agencies in achieving their stated goals. It is with the greatest amount of pride that this organization dedicates itself to the preservation of life and the safe and effective handling of hazardous materials emergencies.
